Developments change face of Ontario

By RICHARD PERAZA
Staff Writer

The first thing newcomers to Ontario will notice is that the city is now in a state of change.

Housing and industrial development trends, the City Hall, the airport, Ontario Motor Speedway and even scenic Euclid Avenue have all changed or are changing this year.

When newcomers and local lifetime residents hear the name "Ontario" they usually picture Euclid's wide, shady lanes. A portion of the historic avenue will change within the next two years.

The city has, this year, received state funding to build an underpass between Park and Transit streets which will carry six lanes of Euclid traffic below and past Southern and Union Pacific Railroad tracks.

Police and fire services

The city of Ontario's Police Department has 110 officers to protect the city's 37 square miles and 78,000 residents.

The Police Department offers an array of services to the public through its community services division, including a neighborhood watch program.

Lee Kolbrek is chief of the department, located at 200 N. Cherry Ave.

Fire protection is provided by the Ontario Fire Department, which includes a paramedic service to the community. The department has 81 firefighters to protect the city.

There are six fire stations in the city at 425 E. B St., 114 E. Ralston St., 1408 E. Francis St., 1005 N. Mountain Ave., Fourth Street at the I-10 Freeway and an under-construction station at Haven Avenue and Route 60.

David Lee is chief of the Fire Department.

Emergency numbers are: police, 986-6711, and fire, 983-5911.

Business numbers are: police, 988-6481, and fire, 986-4579.

Hailed as a step forward for safety, the underpass will enable cars to bypass trains which can block Euclid for up to an hour, cutting South Ontario off from emergency services and hospitals located in the central portion of the city.

It will be heavily landscaped to help it blend in with the rest of Euclid.

Construction isn't expected to begin before October, 1981.

Euclid's shaded expanse sets the mood for many of the tree-lined neighborhoods to be found in Ontario. It's beauty is no accident. The founding fathers designed Ontario as a model community from the start.

It's no wonder thousands of new residents have settled in Ontario during recent years. It boasts at least 62 churches and an array of commercial services and shopping areas. A major regional shopping center is only a few miles away, in a neighboring community.

Ontario is also within easy access to metropolitan Los Angeles, to Southland beaches, the California desert and several mountain resorts and wilderness areas.

Ontario growth trends are leveling off now, though. With a population of 78,000, city officials report the city's construction of single family homes is beginning to slow down.

Instead, they said, there seems to be a shift toward construction of new condominiums in an attempt to conserve valuable land and keep prices down.

In spite of the economy's recent troubles, industries are still looking closely at Ontario's Vintage Industrial Park, according to Tim Steinhaus, redevelopment agency deputy director.

Steinhaus said smaller industries, especially, are flocking to Ontario now.

The location of the city's industrial parks make them ideal. They're close to several key freeways, railroads and Ontario International Airport.

Soaring fuel costs and shortages of gas at any price have hit the aviation industry hard but Dennis Watson, OIA spokesman, said Ontario's airport is "not down nearly as much as a lot of other places."

Passenger totals have dropped 8.7 percent so far this year as compared to last year and cargo shipments have dropped 53 percent but Watson is quick to point out that this has been the first slump in years.

He said the airport is still expected to handle more than 2 million passengers in 1980.

In 1978 and 1979, he said, passenger use of OIA grew by an average of 19 percent a year. Adding in this year's slump and, taking an average, "It's still about a 15 percent increase over three years," he said.

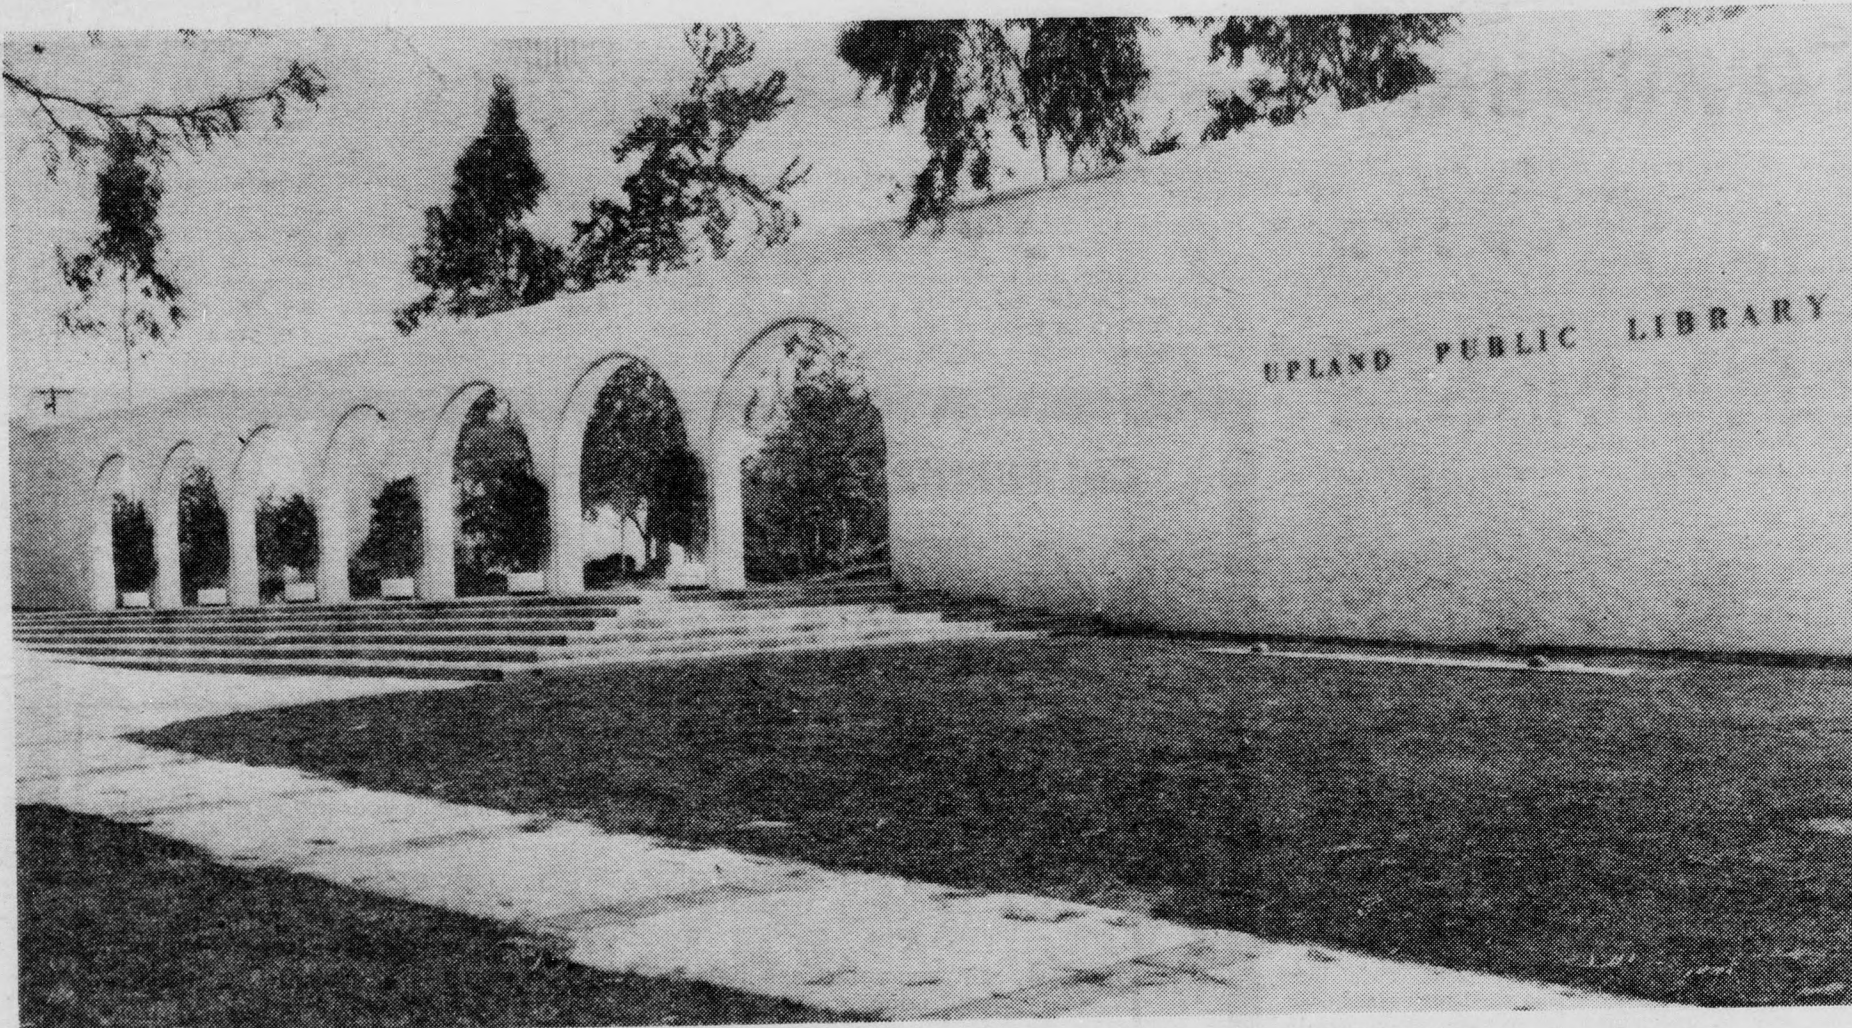

Also, in past years, OIA's cargo shipments were increasing by as much as 200 or 300 percent a year, he said.

Watson said airlines at OIA are eagerly awaiting opening of the airport's new

Upland: citrus groves to thriving city

By DINAH ROSE
Staff Writer

Keeping pace with the march of time, Upland has followed a steady progression in its nearly 75-year history from citrus groves to a thriving community known as "the city of gracious living."

When first settled in 1882 by the Chaffey brothers, William and George Jr., it was little more than a string of houses clustered along Euclid Avenue.

Hundreds of acres of groves surrounding the settlement were irrigated by a comprehensive water system developed by George Chaffey, transforming the once-dry desert into a thriving orchard. That, with the wide boulevard of Euclid Avenue lined with grevillea and pepper trees, led the city to be touted as "the paradise of the foothills."

The area was known as North Ontario until 1902 when the more descriptive name was chosen. Upland was incorporated in 1906 despite protests from Ontario residents who hoped to maintain control over the settlement, and the city will celebrate its 75th anniversary in May 1981.

Today, the city boasts a population of more than 45,000 — nearly triple the number of residents in 1960. The growing population has been joined by a growing problem with air pollution. Smog from the thousands of West End residents who commute to Orange and Los Angeles counties becomes trapped in the foothills, and Upland generally rates as one of the smoggiest cities in Southern California.

In an effort to keep the situation from getting worse, little heavy industry is allowed within the city except for several rock quarries which were established before air quality became a consideration.

There are, however, industrial parks scattered throughout the city for light and service-related businesses. Products produced in Upland include telephones, orchard heaters, paint and auto parts.

Shopping opportunities have grown to serve the mushrooming population, with a wide range of centers lining Foothill Boulevard and Mountain Avenue. The city's largest complex, Mountaingreen Center, opened two years ago and features movie theaters, a gym, restaurants and rows of shops conveniently located off Interstate 10.

Downtown Upland, clustered about the kiosk at Ninth Street and Second Avenue, boasts roughly 70 businesses. It has been the heart of the city since the 1800s when horse and buggies stood parked outside the shops.

Upland's history and its role in the westward movement is commemorated by the Madonna of the Trail statue at the intersection of Foothill Boulevard and Euclid Avenue. One of 12 identical statues across the country, it honors the role of the pioneer woman in settling the west.

The Upland statue marks the end of the trail, with the first monument located in Bethesda, Md.

The Madonna was dedicated in 1929, and the Police, fire services

The city of Upland's police department has 54 officers to protect the city's 15 square miles and 45,000 residents.

An array of crime prevention programs are available to the public including neighborhood watch and Operation Identification. There are also extensive safety programs in the elementary schools and traffic safety programs.

Coy Estes is chief of the police department, located at 177 D St.

Fire protection is through the Upland Fire Department which serves the city with 36 firefighters.

Donald Justis is head of the fire department located at 475 N. Second Ave. Other fire stations in the city are at 2046 N. San Antonio Ave. and 1350 N. Benson Ave.

Emergency numbers are: police, 982-1331 and fire, 985-5911.

Business numbers are: police, 982-1331 and fire, 985-4718.

County includes cities, mountains, desert

How do you provide a variety of public services for the largest county in the United States?

That's a question the San Bernardino County Board of Supervisors grapples with annually during budget hearings and, quite often, during weekly board meetings.

San Bernardino County, more than 21,000 square miles in area, is twice the size of any of California's other 57 counties and larger than nine states.

The county's vast desert region bordering Nevada and Arizona accounts for much of the area.

But empty spaces are filling up. From a population of 628,000 in 1970, the county grew to an estimated 869,000 this year, with the 1980 federal census results still pending. San Bernardino County ranks as the sixth most populous county in the state.

About one-third of the county's residents live in the West End.

One way to understand county government is to know where the money comes from. State and federal funds provide half the revenue for countywide programs.

Much of what the county does reaches the poor, the needy and those in trouble with the law — not in services directly affecting the average resident. Welfare and social services, law enforcement, court operations and health care take up about 70 percent of the funds spent by county government.

The overall county budget for 1980-81 tops $510 million.

In unincorporated areas, the county provides municipal services. Since the incorporation of Rancho Cucamonga in 1977, relatively few West End residents rely on the county for municipal services. Nearly all of the West End's population lives in its five cities.

However, the county, joining with residents and property owners, is playing an important role in the planning for the future of the unincorporated Chino Hills. A specific plan to guide development of some 18,000 acres is being prepared.

County government is a myriad of boards, commissions, committees, departments, agencies and special districts.

But ultimate responsibility for the running of county government rests with the Board of Supervisors. The supervisors represent five geographic districts of the county of roughly equal population. They meet Mondays in San Bernardino, the county seat since creation of the county in 1853.

Supervisor Robert Townsend represents the fourth district, which includes Chino, Montclair, the Chino Hills and the southern portions of Ontario and Fontana.

Supervisor Cal McElwain represents the second district, which includes Rancho Cucamonga, Upland and the northern parts of Ontario and Fontana.

Years ago, when West End residents needed county services, they usually had to travel to San Bernardino. That situation has gradually changed.

In 1958, the first county branch office building was complete at Mountain Avenue and Sixth Street in Ontario, the site of the present West Valley court complex.

The building was one of several paid for by construction bonds approved in 1956 and repaid from shares of local governments' sales taxes.

Branch office buildings for county government were completed in Chino in 1976 and Ontario in 1977.

This year's county budget includes more than $3.5 million for design, land acquisition, site development and initial construction of the planned West Valley Law and Justice Center in east Ontario near Cucamonga-Guasti Regional Park. Projected costs of the project top $30 million.

Supervisors appoint a county administrative officer who is responsible for overseeing the day-to-day operations of county government.

Earl Goodwin recently resigned from that position for health reasons. Robert Rigney — who has held a variety of positions, including assistant county administrative officer, during his more than 20 years in county government — was appointed by the board in July to assume the top administrative post.

Following a reorganization earlier this year, county government is divided into four agencies. Many, but not all, of the county departments are under an agency.

The agencies are Health Care Services, Human Resources, General Services and Environmental Public Works.

In the reorganization, the board merged public works and environmental improvement into one agency.

Law and justice, formerly an agency, was brought under the direction of the assistant county administrative officer.

Beaches close to West End

By NANCY WALLACE
Staff Writer

Want to get away from it all on a summer day or weekend, but can't travel long distances to the beaches or the mountains?

There's an answer for you.

San Bernardino County has two regional parks within easy reach of West End residents for picnicking, camping, swimming and fishing.

One of them — Cucamonga — Guasti Regional Park in Ontario — is the third busiest of the nine county regional parks. Its main attraction in the summer is the swimming lagoon, three-quarters of an acre bit with a sandy bottom and filtered water.

"That's why this park is a big (visitor) draw in the summer," said Richard Fry, park superintendent.

The other — Prado Regional Park, south of Ontario — is not yet fully developed and draws fewer visitors.

The 58-acre lake at Cucamonga-Guasti is stocked with fish and the swimming lagoon is completed, surrounded with trees.

The park is expected to accommodate more than 400,000 visitors for the year ending June 30, far more than the 150,000 who are expected to visit Prado Regional Park.

The parks

CUCAMONGA-GUASTI REGIONAL PARK

800 N. Archibald Ave., Ontario. Telephone 988-1061. From most West End locations, take the San Bernardino Freeway east to the Archibald exit, then go north to the park. From Rancho Cucamonga, take Archibald Avenue south to the park.

Summer hours: 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. daily.

Admission: $1 per car and driver, 25 cents for each additional passenger and 25 cents for bicyclists or pedestrians.

PRADO REGIONAL PARK

16700 Euclid Ave., Chino. Telephone 597-4260. Take Euclid Avenue south past the intersection with Pine Avenue. The entrance is to your left.

Year-round hours: 7:30 a.m. to dusk daily.

Admission: $1 per carload, and 25 cents for each bicyclist, pedestrian or

The popular swimming lagoon isn't the only attraction at Cucamonga-Guasti's 45 acres.

There is plenty of space for picnickers, with 200 tables and barbecue grills. The four sheltered areas can accommodate groups of up to 300. Small groups can use the less expansive areas.

Reservations and a non-refundable deposit of $25 are required for group picnics. This assures access to barbecue grills, water, electrical outlets, and volleyball standards but you must bring your own net.

You can also try your hand at catching catfish at Cucamonga-Guasti during the summer. There is no additional charge, but be sure to have a valid state fishing license. Bait and tackle are available for purchase at the park.

Two-person pedal boats may be rented at 75 cents per half hour.

For children, the park has a modern playground. For teen-agers and adults the park has large areas of open space for softball and other games. There are no softball or baseball fields.

Prado Regional Park also offers lots of and recreation, and also has horseback riding and overnight camping.

The park's 50 campsites have full utility hookups, and charges are $4 per night. The primitive camping area can accommodate still more campers, and charges are $2.50 per night. Reservations are required only for group camping.

After two years of work, the 58-acre lake has been filled with specially treated wastewater. Planned boating facilities are nearly completed. The lake will be used by sailboats, rowboats and pedal boats.

The water at the lake comes from the regional sewage treatment plant south of Chino. The Chino Basin Water Municipal Water District has nearly completed a dechlorination plant and denitrification ponds. These facilities will make the water safe for fish and boaters, which should soon fill the lake.

Ground-breaking for a swimming lagoon begins this fall. The lagoon, possibly ready for next summer, will be built with a federal grant from the Land and Water Conservation Fund.

Some areas of Prado Regional Park are off limits to visitors.

Pushing for new homes in Montclair

By KEN SWART
Staff Writer

After becoming a shopping and entertainment center for the West End in the '70s Montclair hopes to expand its high-income housing in the '80s.

New single-family homes with backyards big enough to keep horses are being developed on county land south of city limits, while new condominium complexes are being occupied.

One such complex, located across the street from the new civic center, was built through the city's new redevelopment agency. The agency has redeveloped an adjoining shopping center on Central Avenue and Benito Street as well.

The center includes a six-screen movie theater and three fast-food restaurants. It is joined by the new Montclair Entertainment Center, which includes five new restaurants, eight movie theaters, a health spa and an ice-cream parlor.

The Montclair Entertainment Center, along with the Montclair Plaza and nearby entertainment-related businesses, and combined with an expanded Auto Mall and specialty stores along Central Avenue, all create a solid sales tax base that pays for the city's excellent services.

Montclair boasts a fire department with a "class 1" rating, a police department with more than 50 employees and a human services department with a free clinic, a senior citizen center and a raquetball-auditorium complex.

Montclair was the first to establish cooperative agreements with fire and police agencies in other cities. For example, several traffic signals will be installed this year with help from the cities of Ontario and Upland.

Cooperation is the key to Montclair's success, says Mayor Harold Hayes. It may have a population of only 22,000 and a budget of only $8.8 million, but it sits in the hub of a metropolitan area of 500,000 people.

"We're willing to keep pace with the times and be innovative," says Hayes, who is celebrating his 21 years of elective service in the city this year.

In addition, the city has worked to develop cooperation between owners, managers and tenants in both apartment buildings and mobile home parks through its new housing and redevelopment department.

The new department aids the redevelopment agency, which recently announced plans to redevelop an old motel area on Central Avenue at the interstate 10. The freeway goes through the city and links it to Los Angeles.

The city doesn't have its own school district but instead is served by both the Ontario-Montclair School District and the Chaffey Joint Union High School

Police and fire services

The city of Montclair's Police Department has 42 officers to protect the city's five square miles and 22,600 residents.

Included in its public services, the Police Department offers a variety of crime prevention programs.

Roger Moulton is chief of the department, located at 5111 Benito St.

Fire protection is provided by the Montclair Fire Department, which also served unincorporated areas surrounding the city. The department has 38 firefighters to protect 6.5 square miles and 32,000 residents.

Special programs in residential fire safety are offered along with a school fire prevention program and counseling to juvenile arsonists.

Harold Duncan is head of the Fire Department, located at 8901 Monte Vista Ave. A second fire station is located at 10825 Monte Vista Ave.

Emergency numbers are: police, 621-4771, and fire, 983-5911.

Business numbers are: police, 621-5873, and fire, 626-1217.

- Community Action Committee meets the first Thursday of every month at 7 p.m.

Council chambers are located at City Hall, at 5111 Benito Street.

In addition, the independent Monte Vista Water District, which serves the city and surrounding areas, meets the second and fourth Wednesdays of every month at 7:30 p.m. at the district offices.

The water district's offices are located at 10575 Central Ave., Montclair.

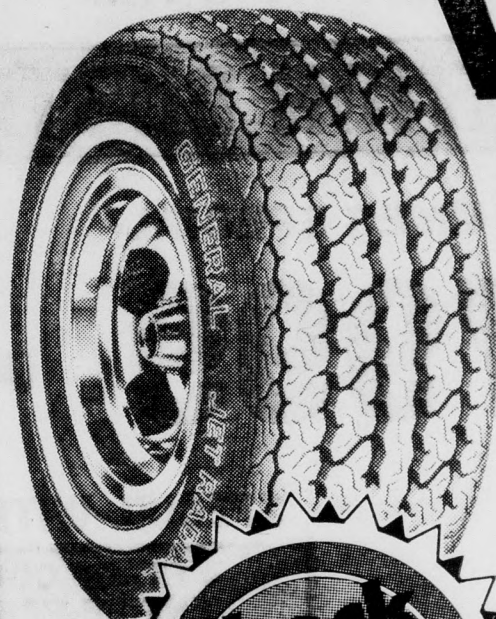

works more closely with these school districts than almost any other city in the West End. Recently the city sold land to the district so students could build several homes there as an educational project.

With help from the local schools, the major event for the year probably will be the finalizing of plans for the city's 25th anniversary of incorporation, which has been scheduled April 26, 1980.

Because Montclair can offer its residents so many housing and entertainment opportunities, "You could get almost anything you want and never have to leave the city," says City Administrator G. Michael Milhiser.

But the most important reason for wanting to live in Montclair is "people have access to City Hall and aren't intimidated but are made to feel welcome here," Milhiser said.

Offices at 325 E. C St., Ontario, brought many county services closer to West End residents in 1977.

R.C. makes plans for the future

With only about one-third of the city's 32 square miles developed, Rancho Cucamonga is expected to see much planned growth in the coming year.

As one of the newer cities in California, Rancho Cucamonga officials have taken a close look at its future since the incorporation vote in November 1977.

"The key is the future," according to City Manager Lauren Wasserman. A general plan is now being developed to guide the city's growth.

"It's going to be a good community...a good place to live and a good place to work," he says.

Wasserman says the city of more than 52,000 residents is "the best balanced community" with the proper amount of industrial, residential and commercial development.

Most of the city's growth will take place east of Haven Avenue, where very little development has taken place. Two developers have ambitious plans for planned communities in the vicinity of Haven Avenue and eastward. To be included is a proposed regional shopping center to be located near Interstate 15.

The way has opened for new residential projects this month after the lifting of a moratorium started by the county four years ago and carried on by the city in 1978.

The only residential building to continue in that time was on projects approved before the moratorium.

Rancho Cucamonga is comprised of three communities — Alta Loma, Cucamonga and Etiwanda — which still try and maintain their individuality. Each have their own post office listings.

Rancho Cucamonga was chosen as the name for the new city because it was the first official recorded name given to the area in 1839 by Don Tiburcio Tapia, a rancher.

Police, fire services

The city of Rancho Cucamonga contracts with the San Bernardino County Sheriff's Office for police protection. The local substation has 35 deputies to protect the city's 32 square miles and 52,000 residents.

The sheriff's office is establishing a neighborhood watch program and other crime prevention programs in the city to protect against burglaries and other crimes.

Capt. Thomas Wickum is commander of the substation, located at 9333 Ninth St.

Fire protection is provided through the Foothill Fire Protection District, which also serves unincorporated areas surrounding the city. The department has 27 full-time and 18 reserve firefighters to protect 53 square miles.

The city has three fire stations at 6627 Amethyst Ave., 9612 San Bernardino Road and 12858 Base Line Road. Robert Lee is chief of the department.

Emergency numbers are: sheriff's office, 988-6571, and fire, 983-5911. Business numbers are: sheriff's office, 989-6611, and fire, 987-2535.

Recreational and governmental activities make use of Rancho Cucamonga's Lion's Park Community Center.

"NOBODY KNOWS WATERBEDS LIKE WATERBED SHOWCASE"

R.C. makes future plans

in 1917 after polling area residents. Alta Loma, which means high hill in Spanish, is generally considered to be the area north of Base Line Road in the western portion Cucamonga retained the early Spanish name, which means a sandy place, but dropped the Rancho. It is located south of Base Line Road and contains the city's growing industrial area.

Finally, Etiwanda located in the eastern part of the city has the smallest population of the three communities. It was named after an Indian chief by George and William Chaffey, who settled the area in the 1880s.

Most of Rancho Cucamonga's growth has occurred in the last few years.

Police protection is provided by contract with the San Bernardino County Sheriff's Office, which maintains a substation on Ninth Street near Hellman Avenue.

Fire protection is provided by the Foothill Fire Protection District.

Students in Rancho Cucamonga attend elementary schools in four districts — Alta Loma, Central, Cucamonga and Etiwanda.

High school students in grades 10 through 12 attend Alta Loma High School, which is part of the Chaffey Joint Union High School District. But, ninth graders must be bused to two other high schools in Ontario and Montclair due to overcrowding at the high school.

Plans are being worked on to build another high school in the city.

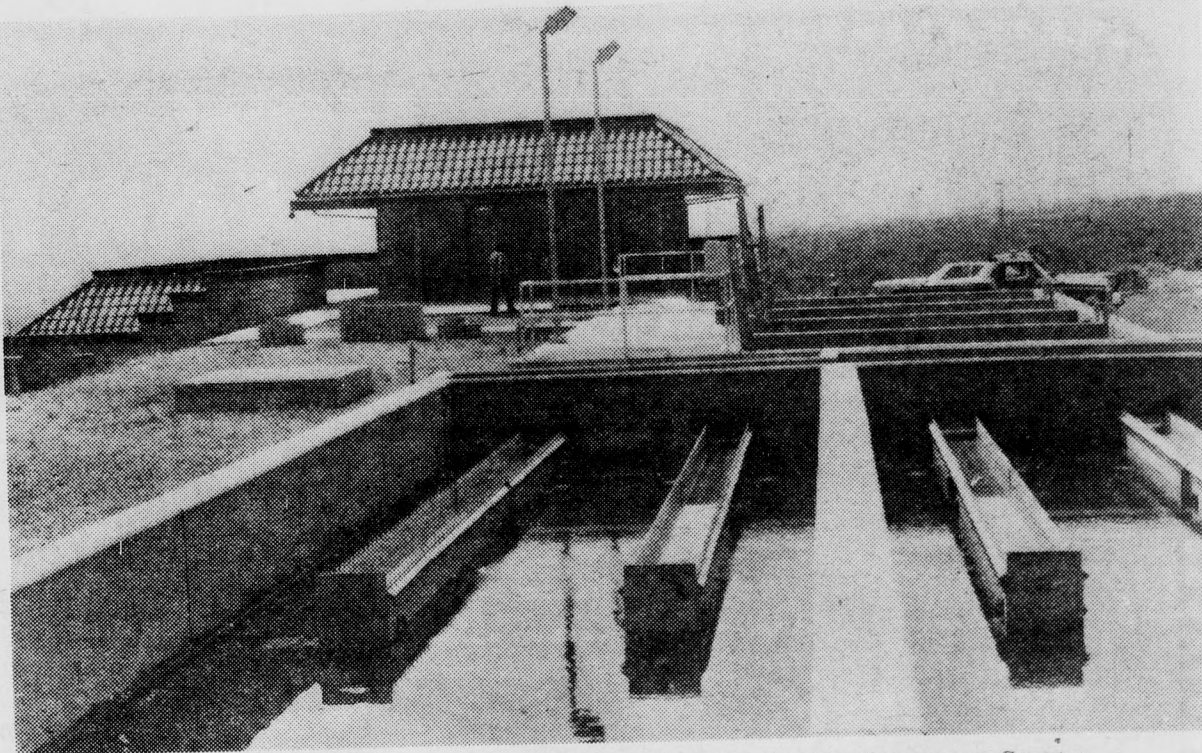

Elementary districts have also experienced problems with overcrowding and efforts are being made to secure additional classroom space. Under the growth management plan, developers must have written certification that districts can handle additional students that would be created from new construction.

Before the city experienced a population boom, Rancho Cucamonga was known for its agricultural products, particularly citrus and grapes.

Both crops have suffered setbacks due to the encroachment by developers and the wineries are no longer as numerous as they were at one time.

City offices are located at 9320 Base Line Road which serves as a temporary city hall.

Utilizing the area's water resources is what it's all about at the Cucamonga County Water District's Etiwanda facility.

Chaffey College is the only community college in the West End.

Defeat of Prop. 9 allows retention of programs

With the defeat of Proposition 9 in June, school districts across the state were able to plan a 1980-81 school year with many of the same programs as those offered during the 1979-80 school year.

West End districts will find themselves in much the same position when school opens in September. With attendance expected to soar well above the 70,000 mark in elementary and high school districts, programming is expected to remain much the same as in 1979-80.

Chaffey high schools

The Chaffey Joint Union High School District will have approximately 13,500 students attending classes this fall. School begins Sept. 15.

The district has five regular high schools, Chaffey, Montclair, Ontario, Upland and Alta Loma; two continuation high schools, Valley View and Mountain; and one school for the trainable mentally retarded, Dominga High School.

More than 800 freshmen are expected to be bused from Alta Loma High School to lessen overcrowded conditions there.

District officials received some good news during the summer when the state allocated approximately $100,000 for planning of a new high school in the Etiwanda area. Should the plan proceed as expected, the district could have a new high school within the next two years.

An adult education program will also be offered this fall. Approximately 1,500 students are expected to enroll in those classes.

Ontario-Montclair

Nearly 15,300 students are expected to attend Ontario-Montclair School District's 21 elementary and five junior high schools. The district also has a school for developmentally handicapped students and a school for the orthopedically handicapped.

A preschool program is also available. The district, which serves the cities of Ontario and Montclair, opens its doors for students on Sept. 15.

Upland Schools

Enrollment predictions for the Upland School District are down slightly from last year's 6,000 students.

The district offers programs at nine elementary schools and two junior high schools.

Seventeen school districts from around the state participate next year in the Upland district's professional development program.

School opens Sept. 15.

Fontana Unified

Nearly 12,300 students are expected to attend Fontana Unified School District's 13 elementary schools, three junior highs and one high school when school begins Sept. 15.

The district also has one school for those with learning disabilities.

This year, the district will operate with four new portable classrooms. Nevertheless, district officials expect overcrowded conditions due to the high level of development in the Fontana area.

Rancho Cucamonga schools

All four elementary school districts in Rancho Cucamonga will begin classes Sept. 15.

Central School District is projecting an enrollment of 2,666 for next year. The district, which operates one junior high and three elementary schools, will offer a modified-day schedule with different starting times at different schools.

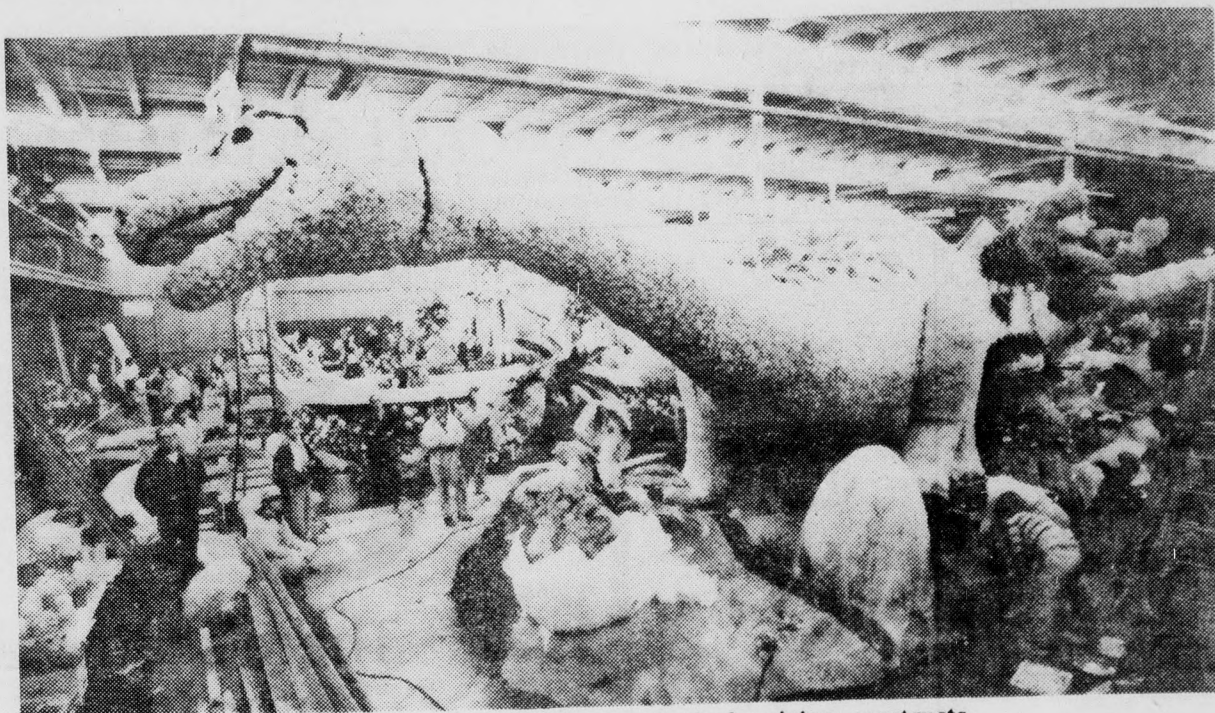

Adjustments to busing boundaries will also go into effect during the 1980-81 school year.

Some temporary buildings will be added in the district to house students while permanent classrooms are built at the junior high.

The Alta Loma School district anticipates a student population of 4,300 next year. The district recently received funding for a new elementary school. It currently operates four elementary schools and one junior high.

Etiwanda School District, serving the city's east side, has one intermediate and one elementary school. District officials anticipate 650 students next year but predict more could be enrolled if an anticipated

Seniors' News

By LINDA BERGSTEDT
Panorama Editor

Went to two senior citizen group celebrations last week and enjoyed good food and great fellowship with members of the Upland Fun After Fifty Club Inc. and the Colony Park Senior Citizens.

When the Fun After Fifty group gathered in the Upland Community Building on East C Street it was to celebrate the club's 17th birthday. In addition to a sumptuous potluck, there was a giant birthday cake and ice cream for everyone.

"Picnic in the Park" was the designation of the monthly gathering of the Colony Park seniors as several of us sat under big shady trees with a gentle breeze cooling us and enjoyed boxed chicken lunches.

DMV Clinic

Whether you drive or not, the Senior Citizen Clinic conducted by the Department of Motor Vehicles is for you," reports Anne Brower, editor of West End Senior News.

The DMV Clinic will be held from 9:30 a.m. to noon and from 1 to 4:30 p.m. on Aug. 14 and 15 at the Civic Center Community Building, C Street and Lemon Avenue, Ontario.

There will be opportunities to apply for Senior I.D. cards and renew drivers' licenses if they expire within the next six months.

Marsha Mayorgas, DMV representative, recommends that one have a Senior Citizen ID card in addition to a driver's license. Also bring documents to prove name, age and birth date.

A regular I.D. card is issued to people up to 62 years old. Cost is $3.25 and the card is good for six years. For those over 62, the card is marked Senior Citizen and is good for 10 years and costs $3.

Persons renewing their driver's licenses will be required to pass an eye test, pass the traffic law test, have their picture taken and pay an application fee of $3.25. The California Driver's Handbook explains the rules of driving and should be studied before taking the test. Handbooks are available at the Civic Center Community Building, at the DMV office at 222 Mountain Ave., Upland, and at the Senior Citizens Service office, 215 W. C St., Ontario.

Music, art, drama flourish in valley

By MARGE GROSS
Staff Writer

Music, art and both amateur and professional drama flourish in the valley area. There also is an interest in the history of the community and the heritages the founding fathers (and mothers) left behind.

In the field of amateur theater, there are three showcases, the Gallery Theater and The Little Theater in Ontario and the Mummers Playhouse in Fontana. Current productions in each theater are listed weekly in The Daily Report.

Area colleges — Chaffey, Cal Poly Pomona and the Claremont Colleges — provide a variety of theater offerings during the school year through their drama departments.

Professionally, the Claremont Colleges offer an Artists' Course Series, Broadway Series, Ethnic Folk Dance Series, International Series and a Theater Series. Most productions are held in Bridges Auditorium in Claremont.

As an example, booked for this year are the Martha Graham Dance Company, the Los Angeles Philharmonic, "Chorus Line," the Chinese National Opera, "Da" and "Elephant Man," to mention a few.

Ontario boasts about having the West End Opera Association to produce "L'Elisir D'Amore" by Donizetti on Nov. 1, and the Ontario Civic Light Opera Association, which will stage "Carousel" Oct. 11 and 18. Both opera companies hold productions in Gardiner Spring Auditorium on the Chaffey High School campus.

Art is promoted by the Chaffey Community Art Association, Upland Ar-

Concluded on Page 38

The summer musical at the Gallery Theater, Ontario, now playing is the "Wizard of Oz," and starring are Laurel Shipley as Dorothy and Mike Tosha as the Cowardly Lion. The show will run weekends through Sept. 6 with curtain time at 8 p.m. Call 986-0077 for reservations.

The Chaffey Communities Cultural Center museum on 18th Street in Upland provides on-going exhibits that illustrate the history of the West End.

tists, Associated Artists, Chino Art Association and the Fine Arts Foundation of Scripps College, Claremont. These associations feature exhibits in galleries, business establishments and hospitals, and the foundation has a gallery on the Scripps campus. The Chaffey Community Art Association is anticipating the opening of its permanent headquarters, which will be in a wing of the former Ontario City Hall.

Also in the former City Hall, a museum is being established to hold acquisitions of local and national interest. In the Ontario City Library, a Model Colony Room holds artifacts, papers and memorabilia relating to the establishment of Ontario, known as the Model Colony in the mid-1800s.

In Upland, The Chaffey Communities Cultural Center Museum, 825 W. 18th St., houses artifacts of western culture particularly as related to Upland and the surrounding area.

The Rex W. Wignall Museum-Gallery on the Chaffey College campus sets up a variety of exhibits open to the public, including student and faculty art shows.

Music plays an important part at Christmas when Handel's "Messiah" is presented by the Ontario Oratorio Society as a holiday gift to the community. The singers are volunteers recruited from choirs of area churches.

Programs by the Community Concert Association, staged in Gardiner Spring Auditorium, are offered for members only. A membership drive is held annually.

Each fall, the West End Symphony Association holds free, back-to-back concerts for thousands of elementary school children.

Children also have their chance to perform when the Peanut Gallery puts on shows at the Gallery Theater, and the Actors'

Repertory Theater and the Karousel Kids stage major productions.

Productions at local community theaters at this time are: Gallery, 126 E. C St., Ontario, "Wizard of Oz"; Mummers Playhouse, 16286 Foothill Blvd., Fontana, "Scapino"; and The Little Theater, 215 N. Lemon Ave., Ontario, "Godspell." All theaters operate on Friday and Saturday nights.

senior citizen,
but the con man
wants you.

Con man. Swindler. Crook. They all want the same thing. Your money. As a senior citizen, you're a likely target for tricky crooks. Take, for instance, the so-called "bank examiner."

He calls and asks for your help in catching a "dishonest bank employee." You're supposed to withdraw money from your bank account, and give it to him.

Don't. He's a crook.

This is just one way to get conned. There are lots more. Find out about them. Write to: Attorney General's Crime Prevention Center, Suite 290, 555 Capitol Mall, Sacramento, CA 95814. Beware the con man. Protect yourself, and report them. That's a good way to help

YOUR PET AND HOT WEATHER DANGERS

During the summer months we see many dogs suffering from problems caused by hot weather. The most serious of these problems is heat stroke.

Dogs normally get rid of excess heat by panting but when surrounding temperatures reach 100° F or more panting becomes ineffective, and the body temperature rises to dangerous levels.

Heat stroke is seen most frequently in animals left in a car. Even with the windows partially open the temperature in a car can rise rapidly enough to be fatal to a pet within a few minutes. Similar problems can occur in a pet left outdoors without shade or water, or one doing strenuous exercise on a hot day.

The symptoms of heat stroke include rapid panting, staggering, difficulty breathing, a dry mouth, and collapse. Treatment must be immediate. Get the animal to shade and wet him down with cool water. Once he has cooled off take him to a veterinarian as soon as possible for emergency treatment. Even if the animal appears to recover after cooling off it should be seen by a veterinarian since some animals may have serious delayed symptoms due to heat stroke. Brain damage can occur if the body temperature remains high for a period of time. This may result in subsequent convulsions or seizing.

Some West End growth can be attributed to freeway commuters but more and more industry is moving into the local area.

California Highway Patrol

Traffic enforcement on state and federal highways and roadways in unincorporated areas are the responsibility of the California Highway Patrol in the West End. The department has 55 road officers assigned to the 65 miles of freeway and 250 miles of roads in unincorporated areas.

The commander of the Ontario CHP office at 1801 E. D St., is Capt. Jim nia Institution for Men at Chino, the California Institution for Women at Fontana and the California Youth Authority are also heard.

The Chino court hears civil suits up to $15,000 and small claims cases up to $750. A pilot program that expanded small claims to $1,500 ended in March.

Traffic and parking citations can be paid between 8:15 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Chino's judge is Holley C. Graham.

Rancho Cucamonga Municipal Court

The courthouse is located at 8076 Archibald Ave., Rancho Cucamonga. Jurisdiction is Rancho Cucamonga, the city formed by the communities of Alta Loma, Etiwanda and Cucamonga.

The county Board of Supervisors recently voted to consolidate Rancho Cucamonga with the West Valley Division in January of 1981. However, the court still has its own judge and staff.

Misdemeanor cases and felony preliminary hearings are handled, as well as civil suits up to $15,000. Small claims up to $750 are heard. Hours to pay traffic and parking citations are 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Rancho Cucamonga's judge is D. Larry Thorne. In January, Kenneth L. Kloefer will take office.

Jury duty explained

Jury duty lists are compiled in San Bernardino from voter registration lists and lists of licensed drivers from the Department of Motor Vehicles.

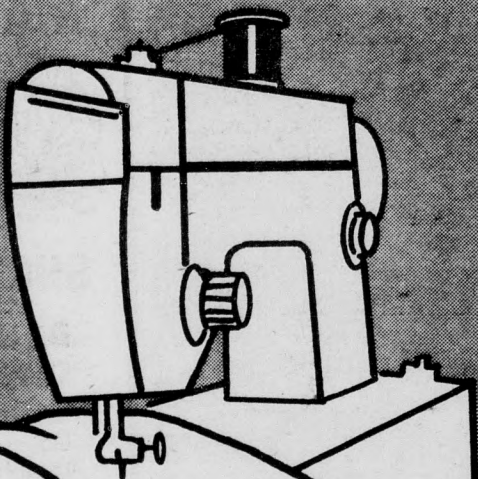

Prospective jurors are sent a card indicating their summons date. The day before they are to appear, jurors call a Code-a-Phone recording which tells them whether or not they are needed. If they are not, they wait for a second summons card. If they are, they report to the court and form a panel, from which jurors are selected for cases.

The jury duty period is 90 days, during which jurors are on call. During that time, prospective jurors either report for four days or, if picked for a jury, serve the duration of the trial.

Once a juror has served jury duty, his name is removed from the computer for one year.

Area health services' wide ranging

Health care services in the West End include free preventive medicine programs, a top-rated prepaid health care plan, two complete osteopathic hospitals and a local Level II Trauma Center paramedic base station.

Yet these health care services continue to grow, offering more complete and efficient care with each addition.

Kaiser Foundation Hospital opened its Preventive Medicine Building in June, a long-awaited addition. Kaiser is the largest of the West End's eight hospitals.

The new building houses a complete health evaluation unit, allowing physicians to perform a thorough physical without moving the patient from room to room.

In this same building are held Health Topic Seminars, free public forums held the third Wednesday of each month. Classes in behavior modification for smokers and the overweight are also available here.

While most Kaiser patients are members of the top-rated prepaid Kaiser - Permanente Medical Care Program, Kaiser also treats non-members under a physician's care. The hospital now has 403 beds and 1,700 personnel to serve the more than 220,000 West End residents. Another new addition, the Physical Medical Building for advanced physical therapy and rehabilitation programs, will open next month.

Kaiser operates various clinics, such as the medical clinic at 1025 W. I St. in Ontario and the psychiatric clinic at 222 N. Mountain Ave. in Upland.

Pomona Valley Community Hospital in Pomona also offers a prepaid health care program. The program was begun in July 1979, and is quite popular although relatively new. Membership is 3,220, which is 23 percent higher than expected.

Pomona Valley is well-known for its Cancer Treatment Center, which is approved by the American College of Surgeons. The center treats 500 new patients each year in addition to those who receive on-going treatment.

The hospital has also begun a number of programs under the "Wellness Program," its plan for preventive medicine. Two years of planning went into a medically supervised physical fitness program, where persons under a physician's care work out at a gym within the hospital. A popular program is the "All That Jazz" dance exercise class, which meets twice each week to build cardiovascular fitness.

Pomona Valley is a Level

II Trauma Center, and is a base for 20 paramedic units. The hospital has 389 beds and 1,200 personnel. Sixteen doctors were added this year, bringing the total to 257 physicians on staff.

The San Bernardino County Medical Center in San Bernardino is also a Level II Trauma Center, complete with surgeons ready 24 hours for any emergency. The hospital's burn unit, used by physicians across the country, is the West End's base for burn emergencies.

116 physicians on staff, 56 of whom are residents in post-graduate training from the University of California, Los Angeles. In addition to the burn unit, the hospital also has recognized neonatal unit for care of newborns.

To bring those infants into the world for less cost, San Antonio Community Hospital in Upland opened its Alternative Birth Unit last May. Here, mothers labor, Alternative Birth Unit for natural childbirth in May. Here, mothers labor, deliver and recover in the same room, and the hospital stay is shortened.

San Antonio has 327 beds with 240 physicians on staff. Construction of a $14.5 million two-story addition began this month. The addition will house an expanded surgical unit, and coronary and post-coronary care units.

San Antonio provides free preventive medicine via the telephone. West End residents may dial 946-2828 for tape-recorded information on a wide spectrum of health care subjects. For a free brochure on available topics, write the hospital at 999 San Bernardino Road in Upland, 91786.

Ontario Community Hospital also has free public health education, and has organized it into a unique program.

The Industrial Accident Management Seminars began last month at the hospital. More than 50 industrial employers attended this free symposium on "Legal Aspects of Industrial Injury." Project Director Gloria Kassel has urged employers to contact her at the hospital, 985-2811, if they wish to attend the seminar planned for Sept. 17.

Ontario Community has always been active in community health education. The hospital continually offers free CPR courses, and hospital personnel volunteer many hours at the annual Health Fair at the Montclair Plaza each April.

The hospital has 99 beds and 115 physicians on staff.

There are 250 personnel to serve its patients.

Like Ontario Community, Doctor's Hospital in Montclair has one of the most active obstetrics units in the West End. Doctor's delivered 120 babies last month.

Among the advances in technical equipment for the OB unit will be an Ultra-Sound machine. This will allow physicians to watch moving pictures of the fetus via harmless sonar. Doctor's Hospital has 99 beds and 250 physicians, including provisional staff.

At Chino Community Hospital, a gradual reorganization of the staff will soon bring the most thorough nursing care ever at that hospital.

R.N.'s will be doing more primary care than administration at Chino Community; instead of doing paperwork while aides and interns work with patients, R.N.'s will soon be able to develop one-to-one relationships with their patients to better serve them.

3 MAGIC LAMP

The native rock building has been a distinctive part of the Foothill Blvd. landscape for more than 20 years and the charm of Magic Lamp has pleased countless Valley patrons in that time. A large, yet cozy, restaurant, Magic Lamp exudes a feeling of "all's right with the world" with its comfortable surroundings, excellent service and good food. Features of the restaurant include a Sunday night buffet from 4:00 to 10:30 p.m., lunches Monday through Friday from 11:30 to 2:30 and entertainment nightly. Lounge entertainment for listening and dancing is provided, and Monday night Belly Dancing is featured in the restaurant's Aladdin Room. Dinners are served from 5:00 to 10:30 p.m. every day.

8189 Foothill Blvd., Rancho Cucamonga. Phone 981-8659.

4 NAROD'S RESTAURANT

If you're looking for an inexpensive American foods restaurant which offers country/western entertainment for dancing after dinner, you'll want to look in on Narod's Restaurant in Chino. The primarily beef menu offers everything from hamburgers to steaks with BBQ ribs and grilled beef sandwiches in between. Prices range from $1.95 for the hamburger (served with salad and fries,) to $7.95 for a steak and crab dinner which is served with salad, baked potato or home fries. The restaurant spotlights Chuck Willis and "Country Express" Tuesday through Saturday, and the bar and dance floors are active every night with regulars who have made Narod's a habit for many years. The restaurant is open for lunch Monday through Friday from 11:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. and serves dinner Monday through Saturday from 5:00 to 9:00 p.m. Narod's is located in the El Central Real Plaza.

12572 Central Ave., Chino. Phone 627-2510.

5 OLIVER'S

Unique dining in the Old Dickens tradition is yours right here in the Pomona Valley at Oliver's restaurant in Upland. The English dinner house decor is evident throughout, and as you enter you'll notice several period pieces of furniture and old pictures augmenting the atmosphere of the waiting room. Oliver's offers traditionally English fare like steaks, chicken and some seafoods like crab and lobster and, on Sunday and Monday evenings, Prime Rib. The restaurant is open for lunch and has a soup and salad bar. The service is friendly and helpful. Magician Paul West confounds patrons at their tables with his craft Thursday through Sundays from 5:00 p.m., and entertainment in the lounge is a nightly feature of Oliver's. The restaurant is open for lunch from 11:30 a.m. Tuesday through Friday, and serves dinner nightly from 5:00 p.m.

1869 West Foothill Blvd., Upland. Phone 981-2523.

6 POMONA VALLEY MINING CO.

Pomona Valley Mining Co., perched atop a hill in Pomona, affords its diners a breathtaking view of the entire Pomona Valley. The eastern exposure of the rough-hewn building is essentially all window wall, while the west side, the entrance, sets the theme in being designed as a replica of an old-time mine. Entry is over a bridge and down into the "mine shaft" to a large, comfortable dining room on the left, a huge lounge to the right. An essentially American foods menu is augmented by theme-flavored desserts and drinks such as "Mother Lode" and "Strawberries Romanoff." Pomona Valley Mining offers entertainment Tuesdays through Sundays, and opens for lunch Monday through Friday 11:30 to 3:00.

1777 Gillette Road, Pomona (San Bernardino Frwy. at Dudley). Phone 623-3515.

7 STEER 'N STEIN

One of the secrets of the success of the Steer 'n Stein restaurants in Chino and La Verne is consistency... consistency in food preparation and service. The service is fast and friendly, and the lines of people waiting for a seat in the restaurants during busy hours are the envy of others in the restaurant business. The restaurants offer a primarily beef menu and the steaks are brought to your table still sizzling from the grill. A menu item popular at the restaurant is the Plank Steak for Two, a complete and satisfying meal served with baked potato and soup or salad for $8.95. The very competitive price is also a consideration which brings many families back to these well-run restaurants. Steer 'n Stein is open for lunch and dinner from 11:30 to 9:00 p.m. Monday through Friday, for dinner from 4:00 to 9:00 Saturday and Sunday. They do not take reservations but your wait will seldom be more than 30 minutes.

11979 Central Ave., Chino. Phone 628-6763.

2080 Foothill Blvd., La Verne. Phone 596-3285.

8 THE DANSON

The Danson restaurant in Claremont provides one of the most unique dining experiences in the Pomona Valley. You may choose to dine inside the tastefully appointed and brightly lit coffee house, or you may want to eat in the patio area, or you may choose to dine on the sidewalk at an umbrella table. The restaurant offers a variety of European style sandwiches, many with sprouts and avocado, and has a convenient delicatessen for take-home purchases. Directly behind The Danson, the Danson Pub offers a pleasant choice for relaxation with its selection of liquors, beers, and special Irish Coffee nightly. Located in the Claremont Village, The Danson is open daily from 11 to 9. The Pub is open Fri. & Sat. to 12 p.m.

109 Yale Ave., Claremont. Phone 621-1818.

9 UNCLE NED'S

Down to earth, friendly service with a smile awaits you at Uncle Ned's in Upland. A Western style saloon/restaurant, Uncle Ned's offers hamburgers, steaks and chicken to its customers. The Western motif is evident throughout the establishment, from old pictures and memorabilia dotting the walls to wooden tables. A selection of sandwiches is offered for lunch (from 11:30) Monday through Saturday and a Monday and Thursday night BBQ Chicken and Rib family special ($3.95 for all you can eat, $2.50 for kids) has proved popular. More and more families have found Uncle Ned's to be a good choice for good food at reasonable prices. Entertainment is offered from 9:00 Tuesday through Saturday for listening or dancing.

365 Central Ave., Upland. Phone 981-7310.

10 WIDOW BRUMM'S

The Widow Brumm, proprietress of this Claremont restaurant at the Rodeway Inn, has breathed new life into the restaurant, formerly called Beef 'n Barrel. The menu at Widow Brumm's, essentially steaks and seafood, is moderately priced and customers have been high in their praise of the quality of the food served there. The Widow has a banquet room for up to 60 diners, and offers a "Widow's Wake" Happy Hour Monday through Friday. The active lounge offers entertainment Monday through Saturday for listening and dancing. Widow Brumm's is open for dinner from 5:00 p.m. every day except Sunday.

860 So. Indian Hill, Claremont. Phone 621-1076.

BARBECUE

11 JOEY'S WESTERN STEAK AND BAR-B-Q

Superb beef ribs, large and tasty, are the order of the day at Joey's. The chef of this exceptionally fine barbecue restaurant is Luria Moors, who bears the distinction of having cooked for the late president Lyndon Johnson. She and her husband Ray opened the restaurant in 1978, naming it after their son, Joey, now four years old, and have drawn raves from all quarters for their ribs, chicken, beef, steaks, homemade Western chili, home-made country sausage links and other "just plain good" barbecued foods. The restaurant is a little out of the way, but is worth finding. Prices range from $3.75 for a BBQ beef sandwich to $8.00 for a dinner of three giant sized beef ribs, barbecued beans, garlic bread, baked potato and salad bar. They also have a children's menu. Joey's is open for lunch from 11:00 a.m. Tuesday through Thursday. Lunch prices start at $2.25. Dinner is served from 4:00 p.m. Tuesday through Sunday.

3689 Riverside Drive, Chino. Phone 628-1231.

12 KIKI'S BARBECUE

Unique menu offerings and an open-pit, mesquite wood-burning barbecue restaurant in La Verne. 46 STRAW HAT PIZZA

Straw Hat Pizza restaurants have gained a reputation for using fresh, natural ingredients in their pizzas. Straw Hat tops off every Original and Deep Dish pizza with the finest meats and cheeses and the freshest vegetables available ... no fillers or extenders are used. A popular menu item at Straw Hat is the Roast Beef Hot Hat, tender roast beef, lots of cheese plus green chiles stuffed into a pastry shell and cooked 'til golden brown. Newest in the expanding line of Straw Hat pizzas is the New Pan Pizza featuring more cheese, more toppings, more sauce and a tangier taste. There are five Straw Hat pizzas to serve you in the Pomona Valley/West End area, all featuring the fine foods which have made Straw Hat a leader among pizza lovers.

47 WILDFLOUR PIZZA

A recent survey by the Los Angeles Times named Wildflower "Boston" Pizza as the number one thin-crust pizza in the L.A. area. The original recipe upon which Wildflower Pizza is based goes back to early Boston, Mass., where the same fine quality pizza was first served in certain pizza restaurants established by the Greeks. Since the opening of the first Wildflower "Boston" Pizza restaurant in 1974, the firm has earned the coveted "Gold Medal" at the California State Fair in Sacramento. In addition to their popular pizza, the Upland restaurant features all-you-can-eat spaghetti for $1.95 on Wed. and Thurs. nights. Among other sandwiches appearing on the menu, the Pocket of Health (lettuce, vegetable and avocado Pita bread sandwich for $1.89) has been popular, and the Wildflower Express, a bowl of soup, a salad and a small soft drink for $2.49 is a lunch and light dinner favorite. Wildflower is open daily until 9:30 p.m., until 10:30 on Fri. and Sat. nights, and is located in the Mountingreen (Mervyn's) Shopping Center.

365 North Mountain Ave., Upland. Phone 981-5644.

48 FIREHOUSE INN

Appropriately named because the building once housed Pomona's Fire Engine Co. No. 2, the Firehouse Inn has several pictures of those days on its walls. As you enter you'll notice the original fire pole firemen used to slide down from their living quarters above. The present day Firehouse Inn is a gracious dinner house with comfortable and luxurious seating for 200 diners. The restaurant offers the most extensive selection of fresh seafoods in the Pomona Valley, both Eastern and Western specialty entrees being available. A popular feature of Firehouse Inn is the Oyster Bar in which clams, oysters-on-the-half-shell and other seafoods are prepared in an intimate atmosphere. The menu also includes Steaks and Prime Rib and the service at Firehouse is excellent. Country Western Entertainer Christi appears in the Oyster Bar Wed. thru Sat. from 8, and the restaurant honors most major credit cards. Firehouse is open from 11:00 a.m. Monday through Friday for lunch, and serves dinner nightly from 5:00 p.m. (4:00 p.m. on Sundays).

49 VAN'S BELGIAN WAFFLES

This little specialty restaurant in Claremont offers a selection of waffles, crepes and quiche on its menu. The Belgian waffle, a light and airy confection served with your choice of fresh fruit and cream toppings, is available at Van's in a selection to please all tastes. Some of the popular offerings include "The 1776", which is a Belgian waffle topped with Strawberries, Blueberries and Whipped Cream, another favorite is a buckwheat waffle with two ribbons of whipped cream and one of chocolate mousse, then a flair of praline chocolate and toasted almond, called the "Golden Gate" Waffle. Van's Super Waffle is just that, a "Super" waffle, a Belgian waffle with buckwheat, bran and raisins baked in — with whipped cream, sliced bananas and a dash of toasted coconut on top. Crepes with various fillings are available and a popular dessert crepe, chocolate mousse, is quite reasonable. Van's is located within the new Harvard Square complex of shops at Harvard and Bonita. It is open Tuesday through Saturday from 7:30 to 9:00 p.m. and Sunday from 7:30 to 3:00 p.m.

206 West Bonita Ave., Claremont. Phone 624-8732.

savings on minor surgery with its outpatient surgery program. For some types of minor surgery, and overnight stay is not required, saving the patient money.

Chino Community, with 118 beds and 150 physicians on staff, has an active emergency room: 1,400 of its 2,000 patients admitted last month came through emergency.

Park Avenue and Garfield-Cottage Hospitals in Pomona offer the only osteopathic care in the West End. Both are complete osteopathic hospitals, offering a system of health care that treats the whole person, not just the disease.

Combined the hospitals have 72 beds and 36 physicians on staff. Each is associated with the College of Osteopathic Medicine of the Pacific in Pomona.

Loma Linda University Medical Center is offered through the Loma Linda School of Medicine. The medical center was designated as a Level II Trauma Center July 1.

The campus has more than 15 medical and health school facilities, including the university's well-known school of dentistry.

The County Health Department operates the West Valley Health Department in Ontario.

This agency provides free Child Health Clinics at the Bon View Community Center in Ontario and the Los Olivos Community Center in Upland in addition to those at its facility at 325 E. C St. There is also a complete array of services at the Sub-Center at 13260 Central Ave. in Chino.

The Health Department offers family planning, immunizations, chest X-rays, hearing tests and many other services. Most services are free to those who qualify. For further information on Health Department services, call 988-1312. For assistance after hours and on weekends and holidays, call 383-2414.

According to Pat Crane, research analyst for Inland Health Systems Agency, there is a shortage of primary care physicians serving West End residents. A 1977 survey designated the West End as a "Medically Underserved Area," with a ratio of one primary care physician to every 2,735 residents.

"This really is an undercount," Crane said. She expects the new 1980 survey to show the West End is better served than three years ago, with more physicians having moved into the Rancho Cucamonga and Upland areas.

Millions of dollars of improvements have been made at Ontario Community Hospital in recent years, including last year's updating of the intensive care unit.

Construction crews hope to finish Ontario International Airport's new runway by the end of the year.

Ontario reflects change

$19.2 million runway late this year.

"By the end of this year we should have it in," he said.

The 10,200-foot-long runway will allow OIA to accommodate the biggest jumbo jets in the air today.

The runway, he said, is also being shifted 2,200 feet further east so airplanes taking off will be farther away from Ontario's residential neighborhoods.

North of the airport is the Ontario Motor Speedway, a modern $25.5 million, 700-acre raceway. The speedway is the home of the California 500 and was the site for both California Jam I and California Jam II.

The speedway, however, is being sold this year to Ontario Foothill Development Co., a company formed specifically to purchase and develop the speedway grounds.

Offering bank and government securities that will mature in 1998 to a total value of $42.15 million in exchange for OMS, OFDC backers are hoping to complete the sale by Sept. 8.

Representatives of OFDC have repeatedly said they have no intentions of stopping racing at OMS in the near future and look forward to a full year of racing in 1981.

Even the seat of city business changed during the past year as the finishing touches were put on Ontario's new civic center.

City employees moved into the new city hall, at 202 E. B St., last October. Buildings in the civic center complex now include City Hall, the City Library a new community center, the Police Department, the Fire Department and the West End's county building.

The old city hall, on Euclid Avenue, won't be flattened into a parking lot. The city fathers have authorized its use as a museum of history and art and have set up a governing board to raise funds and prepare for its opening.

Ontario has no shortage of history to put into a museum; the city is steeped in heritage.

Founders George and William Chaffey, of Brockville, Ontario, Canada, named their model colony after their birthplace.

George Chaffey, in 1882 visited a desolate area called the "Cucamonga Desert" and purchased 6,218 acres plus water rights for $60,000.

Soon the Chaffey brothers were surveying (George was an engineer) and placing parcels on sale.

Euclid was named by George because of his fondness for mathematics. It was surveyed first as the core of the community and planned with streets crossing every half mile.

Between 1888 and 1895 Ontario boasted the only gravity-powered mule cars operating in the country. Cable cars were pulled up Euclid Avenue to the mountain foothills by mules. At the top of the route the mules would climb onto a rear platform to ride with the passengers back downhill.

Armstrong Nurseries, begun here in 1891, became noted as one of the country's better rose breeders.

And anyone who's ever owned a "Hotpoint" iron has held a piece of Ontario history in his hands.

The famous iron was developed in Ontario in 1902 and christened in 1909.

Who needs water?

A land-sailing vessel reaches a speed of about 55 mph on a fairly windy day, and sand sailors have found the Ontario Motor Speedway parking area an ideal surface for recreational activities. In upper photo, Bob Moors of Mira Loma tries his hand at land sailing for the first time. In lower photo, Dick Laponi shows the land sailing technique he's mastered in the past year and a half.

Upland has become thriving city city of Upland celebrated its 50th anniversary last year with lavish ceremonies. A memory box sealed in the base of the statue was opened, revealing newspapers, books, coins and other printed matter from a much younger Upland.

The city has a reputation for quality development, governed by stringent planning procedures and a specific growth management plan. New homes and planned residential developments are being built in the northwest portion of the city, and many older homes in the southeast are undergoing renovation, preserving the city's rich heritage.

Matreyek Homes, a local developing company, has plans to build a 554-unit condominium project, which will include an 18-hole golf course, 110-room hotel, swimming pools for residents, tennis courts, a restaurant and small shopping center.

The complex will be located on both sides of 16th Street, east of Campus Avenue.

When the city is fully developed, projections set the population at 65,000 to 70,000.

City offices are housed in a new civic center at the corner of Euclid Avenue and Arrow Highway. Upland Public Library has 89,000 volumes and a broad range of services offered to city residents free of charge.

The graceful Bicentennial fountain sits in a courtyard between the library and City Hall, where most city services and offices are conveniently located.

The fire, police and recreation departments are located in additional building to the east.

The Recreation Department offers a wide range of classes year-round for all ages. An active senior citizens program is operated out of the Community Center at 352 E. C St., included a hot lunch program.

The Recreation Department offers maps of the city's parks, including Memorial Park, the largest at 40 acres, on Foothill Boulevard. Facilities include softball diamonds and a bandshell for concerts.

The city also has several soccer fields that are used through a cooperative agreement with the American Youth Soccer Association.

Other recreational facilities within the city include the Upland Racquet Club, La Verne Racquet House, Pipeline Skate Park for skateboarders, Moonriver Stables and Pomona Valley Miniature Golf and Recreation Center.

Cable Airport, at Benson Avenue and 13th Street, is privately owned and had 140,000 annual operations and 325 based aircraft as of 1977.

The city's heritage is preserved at the Chaffey Communities Cultural Center, 525 W. 18th St., featuring rotating displays and collections of the past ranging from Indian artifacts to items from the days of the Chaffey brothers.

Where to get involved

Many service organizations offer men and women the opportunity to become involved in community service throughout the West End area of San Bernardino County.

In addition to traditional men's and women's service clubs, there are hospital auxiliaries, patriotic organizations, clubs that help the blind and disabled, those who support culture and others of a fraternal nature.

As volunteers, women give many hours and donations to various community endeavors in projects ranging from sponsoring on-campus clubs to helping in hospitals and helping out children.

Women's service organizations for working women include the Soroptimist International clubs in both Ontario and Montclair, the Altrusa Club of Ontario-Upland, the Ontario-Upland Zonta Club and Business and Professional Women's Clubs in Upland, Ontario, Montclair and Chino.

Mothers of young children are encouraged to join the various Junior Women's Clubs, which offer a myriad of services to the community.

Among the many support groups for local hospitals and community agencies are: auxiliaries at San Antonio Community Hospital in Upland, Ontario Community Hospital, Doctors' Hospital of Montclair and Chino General Hospital; Family Service Auxiliary (West End Family Counseling Service); Las Madras (West End Boys' Clubs); and Casa Alegre Auxiliary (Children's Home Society of California).

Women's Clubs in Ontario, Upland, Rancho Cucamonga, Chino and Montclair offer women the opportunity to become involved in civic affairs, historic projects, ecology drives, volunteer work and safety programs.

Service projects also are the byword of charitable organizations such as Assistance League of Upland, which supports the San Antonio Community Hospital Dental Center and the Girls Club of Cucamonga; the National Charity League, Foothill Chapter, where teen-age daughters make many items for local hospitals and service agencies; the Pomona Valley Transcribers Guild and the Pomona Valley Unit of Recording for the Blind, giving assistance to the blind and poorly sighted; and the Ontario-Pomona Association for Retarded Citizens Auxiliary, giving financial support to the OPARC School in Montclair.

For the culturally minded, there are the West End Opera Guild, which boosts the West End Opera Association; the Foothill Philharmonic Committee, a support group for the Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra; the Fine Arts Foundation of Scripps College, Claremont; and several artists' groups including the Chaffey Community Art Association, the Associated Artists and the Chino Art Association.

There also are auxiliaries for the Rex Wignall Museum at Chaffey College and for Casa de Rancho Cucamonga (The Rains House), the first presenting art exhibits, the second helping to preserve local history.

Also keeping local history intact is the Chaffey Communities Cultural Center in Upland, which has a museum and plans for further buildings.

For men in the West End, there are active Kiwanis, Lions, Rotary and Optimist clubs in the area. These service groups do much for the community at large, and the Lions have special projects for the blind.

The Kiwanis clubs include the Upland Foothill, West End of Upland, Ontario, Ontario Parkway and Montclair. Besides the Ontario-Upland Jaycees and the Optimist Club of Ontario-Upland, there are Rotary clubs in Upland and Ontario.

The list of Lions clubs in the West End includes the Lions Breakfast Club and Lions Club in Upland, Euclid and Ontario Host in Ontario and Lions clubs in Cucamonga, Chino and Montclair.

Churches have their support groups in the many religious organizations for both men and women. Women's fellowships help out in many ways and raise funds for missions both here and abroad. There also is the Ontario-Upland Christian Businessmen's organization that meets Tuesday mornings. Besides active Democratic and Republican clubs, there are patriotic organizations for veterans and their wives such as the American Legion and American Legion Auxiliary, the Veterans of Foreign Wars and auxiliary, the Fleet Reserve, the Veterans of World War I and auxiliary as well as the Sons of Union Veterans.

Fraternal organizations available in the West End include: Elks Lodges in both Ontario and Rancho Cucamonga, Odd Fellows in Upland, Ontario and Chino, Masonic Lodges in Ontario and Upland as well as Mt. Baldy, a Moose Lodge in Montclair, Knights of Columbus and Sons of Italy in America.

Watch for a special section coming Oct. 9 called The Daily Report's 14th annual Salute to West End Women. Featured will be information on many of the more than 150 local women's organizations along with a special story on the winner of The Daily Report's ninth annual "Women's Service Award."

The Daily Report through the years

On the morning of Sept. 12, 1910, a stocky blond Ontario editor named Fred E. Unholz began writing the first editorial for his new daily newspaper. He wrote, in part:

"Modern conditions demand that daily newspapers be printed. All our neighbors have them. If the advertisers of Upland and Ontario knew how we have been besieged to start a daily, they would at least realize what advertising in such a paper is worth.

"Believe us, we are not starting this paper because we are particularly fond of work. We have always found about all we wanted to attend to on a weekly. Our patrons demand such a paper, however, and we are making our feeble effort at giving them what they want.

"With things adjusted after a time, we hope to improve the paper and make the daily in the same class as the weekly now published by this company, the best thing possible for a town the size of Ontario."

The size of Ontario was then 4,274. Upland's population was a mere 2,384. Yet the two communities appeared to be ready for a daily newspaper.

It was called the Daily Republican on inception, a name which was changed in 1912, when two brothers, Cromble and H.L. Allen, bought the property. They wanted something less partisan at the top of their front page. They searched the titles of American newspapers and could find no duplication of the name finally chosen — The Daily Report. In its first listing in Ayer's Directory, the paper was termed independent.

The Daily Report was founded in a basically agricultural community which had been established in 1883 by two engineering brothers, George and William Chaffey, who immigrated to the area from Canada.

Citrus groves covered the areas served by the paper and these served as the communities' economic backbone for decades. Although the area is in transition from agricultural influence to an industrial atmosphere, farming still plays a role, with wine grapes, dairies, poultry ranches, hay and corn providing a contribution to the local economy.

The Daily Report's fore-runners were published weekly. The first was the Ontario Fruit Grower, printed in Riverside by I.M. Holt when Ontario was no more than a promotional idea in the mind of George Chaffey. It heralded the town's founding in 1882 but lasted only a couple of years. The Grower advertised the irrigation colonies of Etiwanda and Ontario to the eastern United States.

The second was the Ontario Record. In 1885 young E.P. Clarke came to survey the Model Colony in its third year and to decide whether it could support a local paper. The two stores and a scattering of houses made him skeptical. He doubted "whether I could find 25 subscribers here." But he went ahead and installed his press in the spare corner of a lumber warehouse. The weekly continued to be published for the next 78 years.

In his first year, Clarke claimed a circulation of 500. Two years later the town had 1,500 in population and the Record claimed 768 subscribers.

Still standing is the daily's first home at the northwest corner of Lemon Avenue and Holt Boulevard, then A Street. These four pages a day were cranked out on a flatbed press. This excellent local organ played an important role in the colony's development.

In 1897 the Clarke brothers bought the Riverside Press and soon after that the Ontario paper was left to a new editor, A.A. Piddington, who had been on the staff more than 10 years.

Meanwhile, in 1888, the Ontario Observer had been launched by a fiery Democrat, R.J. Blackburn, whose clever comments gave an added spice to life in general.

In 1898, soon after George Chaffey's return from Australia, he bought both papers combining them as the Record Observer. R.C.P. Smith became the editor and later I.S. Watson took over duties from May 3, 1901 to Sept. 5, 1902. With the Sept. 13 issue it was again called the Ontario Record, becoming a semi-weekly from June 3, 1903 to Feb. 27, 1904. The paper was published weekly after that time until 1963.

The Daily Report entered a new era more than four decades ago with a change in ownership. In 1930, the Allens sold to Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Appleby, who became publisher. Appleby was the holder of a Phi Beta Kappa Key for scholastic excellence, a veteran of World War I who saw service in France as an AEF infantry officer, and a newspaperman of exceptional ability and even greater promise.

Following her husband's death in 1936, Mrs. Appleby (later Jerene Appleby Harnish) assumed the direction of The Daily Report. She guided the firm through nearly a quarter of a century, serving longer than any previous publisher of this newspaper. Mrs.

Harnish died July 4 at age 86.

It was during the 1940-50 era that Ontario and its neighbors changed from sleepy villages to bustling suburban communities. The population of Ontario was more than 60,000 when Mrs. Harnish stepped down as publisher after she and her two sons, Carlton and Andrew, sold the property in 1965.

In April of that year, The Daily Report was acquired by the Progress Bulletin Publishing Co. in Pomona. That firm was owned by Charles T. Richardson and his father, A.T. Richardson. The younger brother became the publisher of The Daily Report.

An immediate expansion program was begun and more than $600,000 was spent for a new pressroom with a 64-page Scott rotary press, and for remodeling of existing facilities. Work was completed in November 1966, and during the following January, a $30,000 PDP-8 Computer for justifying, hyphenating and spacing unjustified punch tape was installed.

The Daily Report, located at 212 E. B St., Ontario, serves the communities of Ontario, Upland, Chino, Montclair, Rancho Cucamonga, Guasti and Fontana.

In November 1967, both the Progress Bulletin and The Daily Report, along with the other six Progress Bulletin papers in the Pomona Valley, were purchased by the Donrey Media Group. Donald W. Reynolds became The Daily Report's president. The title of publisher was abolished and Bill Metcalf, a longtime advertising executive for the Progress Bulletin, became the general manager. In 1973 he was named vice president of Donrey Media, and was replaced as general manager by Jay Holmes, a longtime employee of The Daily Report.

The newspaper, published seven days a week, serves the communities of Western San Bernardino County — Ontario, Upland, Chino, Montclair, Rancho Cucamonga, Guasti and Fontana. The daily circulation is approximately 34,000 and the Sunday circulation exceeds 35,000.

The Daily Report has received many awards for excellence. This year, the paper won the prestigious John Swett award for educational reporting and the 1980 Reporting Excellence Award in the Donrey Media Group competition.

Polaris Vac-Sweep	96.8% clean	3 hrs. time
Pool Sweep*	32.1% clean	6 hrs. time

Polaris Vac-Sweep outperforms the leading sweep-type cleaner three to one. See us for a free copy of the independent laboratory report.

Polaris Vac-Sweep,® the most advanced automatic pool cleaner, is the only one to both vacuum and sweep. In recent tests conducted by an independent testing laboratory, Polaris Vac-Sweep showed itself to be more energy conscious. Taking only half the time to do three or four times the work of the best known sweep-only cleaner. Half the time means a big energy savings, and a party pure pool each day.

If your state is among the growing number of states or cities requiring energy conserving pool covers, Polaris Vac-Sweep is definitely for you. Because the Polaris Vac-Sweep performs under the surface, where the dirt is - it will operate perfectly under an energy cover or blanket, something a surface-riding cleaner cannot do. A pool cover keeps energy in, but it doesn't keep dirt out. With Polaris Vac-Sweep you need remove the cover only for swimming. Cleaning is no longer automatic if you have to remove your energy cover to put in a floating sweeper.

When you're ready for a really clean pool;
you're automatically ready for Polaris Vac-Sweep.
